ORDER

Currently before the Court is a bankruptcy appeal (#11) arising out of a Chapter 11 bankruptcy proceeding for Mortgages Limited, Case No. 2:08-bk-7465-RJH. This particular appeal relates to the exit financing provisions in the confirmation plan.

BACKGROUND

This case, along with a number of others pending before this Court, arises out of the Chapter 11 bankruptcy proceedings for Mortgages Limited, case number BK NO. 08-07465. The Court notes by way of background that Mortgages Limited (“Mortgages Ltd.”) once held a $900 million portfolio of loans and had over 1800 investors. Investors in Mortgages Ltd. owned fractional interests in promissory notes and deeds of trust. Investors entered

1 agreements with Mortgages Ltd. prior to making these investments. Because investors had 2 fractional interests in the various mortgages, when borrowers defaulted and the properties 3 were foreclosed upon, investors became part owners of properties as tenants in common with 4 other investors who had interests in the same loan.

5 On June 28, 2008, Mortgages Ltd. filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy. The company was 6 thus reorganized pursuant to a plan that was confirmed by the bankruptcy court. As part of 7 the plan, an entity called ML Manager, LLC (“ML Manager”), the appellee in this case, was 8 created to manage and operate the loans in the portfolio. The original investors for the most 9 part transferred their interests to 49 separate Loan LLC’s. A number of investors, referred to 10 as “pass through investors” did not transfer their interests. As part of the Plan, ML Manager
11 took out $20 million in exit financing (the “Exit Financing”) to help keep the company afloat 12 during the reorganization.

13 After confirmation of the plan, a dispute arose regarding the agency authority of ML 14 Manager to take action on behalf of “pass through investors.” A group of “pass through 15 investors” referred to as the Rev Op Group, the appellants in this case, took the position that 16 ML Manager could not sell property in which Rev Op Group members had an interest without 17 the Rev Op Group’s approval and consent. ML Manager asserted that it had the agency 18 power to sell property in which Rev Op investors had an interest without their consent. This 19 conflict has lead to a number of disputes within the bankruptcy court as well as a number of 20 appeals of bankruptcy court orders currently pending before this Court.

21 II. The Plan & Disclosure Statement

22 On May 20, 2009, the bankruptcy court issued an Order Confirming Investors 23 Committee’s First Amended Plan of Reorganization dated March 12, 2009 (“the Plan”).
24 (Confirmation Order (#16-6) at 28). The Plan stated the following with respect to the 25 provisions at issue in this appeal. “Exit Financing” meant “the financing provided by a third 26
27
28

1 party lender on the terms as set forth on Exhibit O<sup>2</sup> to the Disclosure Statement which [would] 2 be used to consummate the Plan on the Effective Date pursuant to the terms of the Plan, or 3 financing on more favorable terms with a substitute lender.” (Plan (#16-1) at 8 (¶2.35)).

4 “Investors” meant “all Persons holding fractional or participating interests in the ML Loans or 5 in the MP Funds which hold fractional or participating interests in the ML Loans, whether as 6 a pass-through investor or an investor under the MP Funds, excluding the Debtor.” (Id. at 9 7 (¶2.40)). “Pass-Through Investors” meant “the non-MP Funds Investors, other than the 8 Debtor, that hold a direct fractional or participating interest in the ML Loans whether through 9 Revolving Opportunity Loan Programs, Capital Opportunity Loan programs, Annual 10 Opportunity Loan Programs, Opportunity Plus Loan Programs, Performance Plus Loan 11 Programs, or other similar programs established by the Debtor.” (Id. at 13 (¶2.62)).

12 Paragraph 4.13, as modified by the confirmation order’s Paragraph U.3, states the 13 following:

14 4.13 Distributions from Loan LLCs. Each Loan LLC will distribute funds to 15 its members pro rata based upon their respective membership 16 percentages in such Loan LLC as set forth in the operating agreement for 17 each of the Loan LLCs. Before such distributions are made, Pass-18 Through Investors who retain their fractional interests in ML Loans shall 19 be assessed their proportionate share of costs and expenses serving and 20 collecting the ML Loans in a fair, equitable and nondiscriminatory manner 21 and shall be reimbursed in the same manner as the other Investors.
 22 When the MP Funds receive any distribution from the Loan LLCs, they 23 will distribute such funds to their respective investors, after payment of 24 any MP Fund creditors.

(Plan (#16-1) at 35; Confirmation Order (#16-6) at 39).

21 III. Motion for Clarification

22 On September 14, 2009, the Rev Op Group filed an emergency motion to clarify the 23 confirmation order. (Mot. for Clarification (#16-6) at 45). The Rev Op Group asked the 24 bankruptcy court, inter alia, to “clarify that the ML Manager LLC [did] not have the right to 25 impose any of the expenses or other terms/provisions of the Exit Financing on the Rev Op

27 <sup>2</sup> Exhibit O is located at Doc. #1531-22 on CM/ECF for the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for 28 the District of Arizona, case no. 2:08-bk-7465-RJH. This order will cite to the bankruptcy court’s docket as “CM/ECF #__.”

1 Group” and did “not have the right to impose the ten percent (10%) disposition incentive
2 payment or loan repayment provisions set forth in the Exit Financing on the Rev Op Group.”
3 (Id. at 51).

4 On October 21, 2009, the bankruptcy court granted the motion for clarification “to the 5 extent any clarification [was] needed” and found the following:

6 Paragraph U of the confirmation order permits the ML Manager to charge back 7 to the non-opt-in participating investors their proportionate share of all of its 8 expenses, including but not limited to the exit financing. This Plan does impose 9 a limitation that such charge back be fair, equitable and proportional, but within those limitations the ML Manager can exercise his business judgment whether to obtain financing to cover exit costs and operational expenses, and when to make the charge backs.

10 (Mem. Decision (#14-10) at 1-2). On October 29, 2009, the bankruptcy court entered an order
11 on the motion to clarify. (Order (CM/ECF #2345)). On November 13, 2009, the Rev Op Group
12 filed a timely notice of appeal. (Notice of Appeal (CM/ECF #2401)). The Rev Op Group did 13 not obtain a stay on any of the bankruptcy court’s rulings pending appeal.

14 In this appeal, the Rev Op Group raises three issues: (1) whether the bankruptcy court 15 erred in ruling that the Rev Op Investors could be charged for exit financing under the Plan; 16 (2) whether the bankruptcy court erred in ruling that the Plan authorizes ML Manager to make 17 decisions based on its own business judgment; and (3) whether the bankruptcy court erred by 18 failing to change the word “serving” to “servicing” in Paragraph U.3 of the Confirmed Order.
19 (Opening Brief (#11) at 4-5).

20 STANDARD OF REVIEW

21 The parties dispute the standard of review in this case. ML Manager argues that the 22 standard of review is abuse of discretion, while the Rev Op Group argues that the standard 23 of review is de novo. (See Response Brief (#21) at 13); Reply Brief (#22) at 6).

24 The issue before the Court is what standard of review applies when reviewing a 25 bankruptcy court’s interpretation of its own order confirming a reorganization plan. Generally, 26 the Ninth Circuit has held that a “reorganization plan resembles a consent decree and 27 therefore, should be construed basically as a contract.” Hillis Motors, Inc. v. Hawaii Auto.
28 Dealers’ Ass’n, 997 F.2d 581, 588 (9th Cir. 1993). However, as the Third Circuit has noted,

1 “[t]here is a difference between reviewing the straightforward application of contract principles,
2 and reviewing a bankruptcy court’s interpretation of its own order contained in a confirmed 3 plan of reorganization.” In re Shenango Group Inc., 501 F.3d 338, 345 (3d Cir. 2007). The 4 Ninth Circuit has not adopted a standard for reviewing a bankruptcy court’s interpretation of 5 its own order.

6 This Court follows the majority of the circuits that have weighed in on this issue and 7 finds that this Court reviews a bankruptcy court’s interpretation of its own order for an abuse
8 of discretion. See Travelers Indem. Co. v. Bailey, 557 U.S. 137, 129 S.Ct. 2195, 2204 n.4, 9 174 L.Ed.2d 99 (2009) (noting that the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, 10 Eighth, and Eleventh Circuits have held that a “bankruptcy court’s interpretation of its own 11 confirmation order is entitled to substantial deference”).

12 DISCUSSION

13 The Rev Op Group argues that the bankruptcy court erred in ruling that it could be 14 charged for the Exit Financing. (Opening Brief (#11) at 13). The Rev Op Group argues that 15 there is no basis in Paragraph U, or anywhere else in the Plan, that requires it to repay the Exit
16 Financing. (Id. at 14-15). The Rev Op Group also asserts that the bankruptcy court erred
17 when it diminished ML Manager’s fiduciary duties by ruling that ML Manager could exercise 18 its business judgment rather than the best interests of the investors whose assets it manages.
19 (Id. at 18). The Rev Op Group argues that the bankruptcy court erred in refusing to replace 20 the word “serving” in Paragraph U with the word “servicing.” (Id. at 19).

21 In response, ML Manager argues that neither the Plan nor the confirmation order 22 exempt the Rev Op Group from paying its fair share of the Exit Financing. (Response Brief 23 (#21) at 14). ML Manager argues that the bankruptcy court correctly stated ML Manager’s 24 duty and that the Rev Op Group never explains why the business judgment standard is 25 inadequate or lower than the standard that the Rev Op Group thinks should be imposed. (Id.
26 at 17-18). ML Manager argues that there was no error in the language of the Plan or 27 confirmation order and that “serving” is the correct word. (Id. at 19-20).

28 The Rev Op Group filed a reply brief. (Reply Brief (#22)).

1 First, the bankruptcy court did not abuse its discretion in finding that Paragraph U of the 2 confirmation order permitted ML Manager to charge back to the non-opt in participating 3 investors their proportionate share of all of its expenses, including the Exit Financing.
4 Paragraph 4.13 of the Plan, as modified by the confirmation order, makes clear that Pass-
5 Through Investors, including the Rev Op Group, “shall be assessed their proportionate share 6 of costs and expenses serving and collecting the ML Loans in a fair, equitable, and 7 nondiscriminatory manner.” Because the Exit Financing is a cost and expense of serving and 8 collecting the ML Loans, the bankruptcy court did not abuse its discretion by finding that the 9 Rev Op Group must pay its fair share of the Exit Financing.

10 Second, the bankruptcy court did not abuse its discretion by stating that ML Manager 11 could exercise its business judgment in determining whether to obtain financing to cover exit 12 costs and operational expenses and when to make charge backs. The Rev Op Group’s basic 13 argument is that the business judgment rule changes ML Manager’s obligation to charge the 14 Rev Op Group its proportionate share of costs and expenses in a fair, equitable, and 15 nondiscriminatory manner. (See Opening Brief (#11) at 17). This is not the case. The 16 clarification order still directs ML Manager to impose a charge back that is fair, equitable, and 17 proportional. Moreover, the Plan still requires ML Manager to assess a proportionate share 18 of the costs and expenses in a nondiscriminatory manner, thus, protecting the Rev Op Group’s 19 interest. As such, the bankruptcy court did not abuse its discretion by interpreting the 20 confirmation order to include ML Manager’s use of business judgment to assess a 21 proportionate share of the costs and expenses.

22 Finally, the Rev Op Group has not demonstrated that the bankruptcy court’s use of the 23 word “serving” instead of “servicing” was in error. As such, the Court AFFIRMS the bankruptcy 24 court’s clarification order.
